

What you need to know before you sign up

- It is not possible to produce viable 'print-only' see-through graphics without practising technology covered by patents owned by Contra Vision Ltd.
- Royalties, based on your selling price for the graphics, are payable in order to practise this technology.
- Signing up for a licence is free.
- Royalty payments are collected by credit card, 25 days after you have registered a print job.
- You source a suitable substrate, Contra Vision offers an Ultra Clear Polyester which is recommended for this technology.
- You can use any printing system that can print onto optically clear substrates. You must have white ink and the better the registration, the better the result. If you wish to produce see-through graphics which include a black layer (typically one-way see-through graphics), you need to be able to print white with a good level of opacity, typically a printer which can print a black layer, a white layer and an image layer in a single pass without the material moving between passes.
- Each job you complete requires a unique code that we will provide after commitment to pay; this code must appear unobtrusively on every printed graphic.
- We offer ready-to-print artwork to enable you to print samples to show to prospective customers. No royalty is payable for samples of no-commercial value.
- We recommend that you show prospective customers samples produced on your equipment, rather than samples that you may have obtained elsewhere, to ensure that you show what you are capable of producing.
